Subject: draft malathion biological opinion walk-through

Hi Elissa, Clayton, and Cathy,

I'm following up on last week's pesticide senior managers meeting and the walkthrough for the draft malathion biological opinion. I know everyone's schedules are busy, but after coordinating with Brian and Tracy, we've settled on next Thursday, May 20 at 12:30 ET for 2 hours for the walkthrough for the Federal family agencies. Our staff is setting up the invitation, and we will add the three of you - please feel free to pass along to me any names of your staff that would be also attending, and we'll get them added - you should also be able to forward the invitation to your staff if you prefer. (Elissa - Tracy has already passed along a number of names for EPA attendees.)

This session will describe our analysis in a bit more detail than the brief overview we provided at the managers meeting several weeks ago, so there's a lot to cover, but we're hopeful a couple of hours will also allow enough time for questions. Thanks,

Karen

Thanks, Nancy.

Yes, USDA would like to participate. Please invite me, Alyssa Arnold, and Cameron Douglass, though not all of us might end up attending. They are copied on this response.

Best,
Clayton

Subject: Registrant overview of draft malathion BO - invitation

Hi Tracy and Clayton,

As you are likely aware, FWS is planning to present an overview of our draft malathion BO for the registrants and their invitees on Friday May 21st from 2:00 to 4:00 pm. At this time FMC has confirmed that representatives from FMC, Nutrien, and Drexel will be present, as well as their representation from Wiley Rein, and consultants from CSI and Instrinsic. We're still awaiting information on any other relevant stakeholder groups that might attend.

Though we're planning to hold a separate overview of the same material for our federal partners (which I believe we're still coordinating a date for), we wanted to extend an invitation to you and/or appropriate staff from your agencies to sit in on the registrant meeting as well, if desired. If so, please let me know who in your agency will attend and I can add them to the invitation.

Thanks, Nancy
